TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

[TELEGRAPHIC REPORTS FOR THE PRESS ASSOCIATION.]

Entered according to act of Congress, in the year 1861, by J. S. Thrasher, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Confederate States of the Northern District of Georgia.

From Richmond.

BATTLE-FIELD, NEAR GAINS' MILL, June 5, 7 P. M.—To-day has been unusually quiet, both armies appearing to observe the Sabbath, and only occasional sharpshooting.

Last night, about 8 o'clock, the enemy made a feeble assault in front of Pinnegan, which was easily repulsed.

Little else of interest occurred yesterday.

On Friday night Heke and Mahone, on the right, advanced their lines some distance in order to establish their line of skirmishers, during which Gen. Breckinridge's horse was shot under him, causing General Breckinridge to be seriously bruised in falling.

The enemy also made an assault on Fields' and a part of Early's corps late Friday evening. Both were successfully repulsed.

Our losses in the fights during the whole of last week will not reach one thousand.

[SECOND DISPATCH.]

RICHMOND, June 6.—It is reported that Grant has retired from Early's front, with the object, probably, to mass troops for another assault on our right.

[THIRD DISPATCH.]

RICHMOND, June 6.—Advices from the Valley indicate that the enemy is moving in the direction of Staunton.—Our forces are unable to prevent their advance. It is reported that Staunton is already occupied by the Yankees.

From Georgia.

BATTLE-FIELD, 6 miles from MARIETTA, June 6.—The enemy are still moving towards Altoona. Hooker's corps are fortifying the hills between Ackworth and Atlanta. Heavy rains during the past five days have made the roads almost impassable for artillery and retarded movements considerably. Some slight skirmishing occurred near Lost Mountain yesterday.

All quiet this morning.

ATLANTA, June 6—A reporter that left the front at noon to-day reports our army still moving towards the railroad. The enemy have already crossed near Acworth and Hooker's corps is reported five miles East of it on the old Altoona road.

Gen. Johnston's headquarters were West of Marietta with our left resting at Lost Mountain, Hardee commanding the right, Polk the left and Hood the centre.

The Yankee cavalry dashed into Big Shanty at ten o'clock this morning and were met by Williams' brigade, who was fighting them when the reporter left.

From Mobile—Blockade Runner Captured—Blockade Breaking the Mississippi.

MOBILE, June 6.—This morning the steamer Donegan, while attempting to run the blockade, was captured with an assorted cargo.

The operator at Jackson, on the 5th, reports on the authority of Capt. Evans, commanding scouts, that Memphis was blockading the Mississippi river above and below Greenville with gun boats. His force is large and he has destroyed three transports, securing two cargoes; besides capturing three gunboats, and other transports, among the latter the Marion and Fairchild. There is one gunboat, one transport Hospital and four transports between the batteries which cannot go up or down.

Congressional.

RICHMOND, June 6.—The Senate passed House bill increasing the pay of non-commissioned officers and privates, with an amendment limiting the increase to a period of one year.

Resolutions of thanks to Kirby Smith and the officers and men under his command were unanimously adopted.

The House tax bill was reported back with various amendments and made the order for to-morrow.

The House concurred in the Senate joint resolution extending the session until Saturday next.

The bill amending the currency act was further discussed.

Johnston County.—We are authorized and requested to announce the following gentlemen as the Conservative candidates to represent the county of Johnston in the next General Assembly:

For the Senate—THOS. D. SNEAD, Esq. For the Commons—W. G. BAKER and W. A SMITH.

This ticket was selected by the Reserves from Johnston, in camp at Goldsboro, and by a mass meeting of the citizens remaining at home, held at Smithfield on the 28th of May. These gentlemen will be supported by all true Conservatives. They endorse the platform of Vice President Stephens, Gov. Brown and W. W. Holden, and if elected will do all they can to procure an early and honorable peace. June 2-dwtd

Standard, Conservative, Confederate, and Christian Advocate are requested to copy till day of election and send bills to this office.

To the People of North-Carolina.—In compliance with the wishes of many friends, I announce myself a candidate for the office of Governor of North-Carolina, at the election to be held on the first Thursday in August next.

My principles and views, as a Conservative "after the straitest sect," are well known to the people of the State. These principles and views are what they have been.—They will not be changed.

I am not disposed, at a time like this, to invite the people from their employments, and add to the excitement which prevails in the public mind, by haranguing them for their votes. We need all our energies to meet the common enemy, and to provide means of subsistence for our troops in the field and the people at home. Let the people coolly and firmly to the polls and vote for the men of their choice. I will cheerfully abide their decision, whatever it may be.

If elected I will do every thing in my power to promote the interests, the honor and the glory of North-Carolina, and to secure an honorable peace.

March 4 tf W. W. HOLDEN.

Hillsboro' Recorder, Salem Press, Greensborough Patriot, and Henderson Times will please copy till day of election, and forward accounts.

To the Voters of Old Lenoir.—Fellow Citizens and Brother Soldiers:—Through the request of many friends in and out of the army I take this method of announcing myself as a candidate for the Sheriffalty of your county. If I should be so fortunate as to be your choice on the first Thursday in August next I assure you that all business in my hands shall be attended to promptly, justly and impartially, should I be so fortunate as to escape the hands of death during the coming campaign. I am truly in hopes to hear of a nice majority in favor of your obedient servant on the first Thursday in August next.

I am, very respectfully,
Your son and brother
Of Old Lenoir County,
R. B. VAUSE,
May 12-dawtd 2d LA. Co. A, 40th Reg't N. C. T.

Any of our friends receiving important news from the army by private letter or telegrams, will confer a great favor on us by sending or leaving them at this office for our use.

AN INCIDENT OF THE SIEGE OF CHARLESTON.

The Yankees from time to time throw a shell into the city and nobody seems to mind it. But misfortune willed that yesterday a shell should throw the entire community into mourning.

Miss Anna Pickens, the daughter of our former Governor, never consented to leave the city. Despite the representations of Gen. Beauregard, she remained braving shells and Greek fire, attending the wounded and cheering all with her presence. Among the wounded officers under her care was Mr. Andrew de Rochelle, a descendent of one of the noblest Huguenot families of the city. This young man was full of the liveliest gratitude for his fair nurse; gratitude gave birth to a more tender sentiment; his suit was listened to; Gov. Pickens gave his consent, and the marriage was fixed for yesterday, the 28d April.

Lieut. de Rochelle was on duty at Fort Sumter in the morning, and it was determined that the ceremony should take place at the residence of Gen. Bonham, in the evening, at 7 o'clock. At the moment when the Episcopal clergyman was asking the bride if she was ready, a shell fell upon the roof of the building, penetrated to the room where the company was assembled, burst and wounded nine persons, and among the rest, Miss Anna Pickens. We cannot describe the scene that followed. Order was at last re-established, and the wounded were removed, all except the bride, who lay motionless on the carpet. Her betrothed, kneeling and bending over her, was weeping bitterly and trying to staunch the blood that welled from a terrible wound under her left breast. A surgeon came and declared that Miss Pickens had no longer than two hours to live. We will not paint the general despair.

When the wounded girl recovered her consciousness, she asked to know her fate, and when they hesitated to tell her—"Andrew," she said, "I beg you tell me the truth. If I must die, I can die worthy of you." The young soldier's tears were his answer, and Miss Anna, summoning all her strength, attempted to smile. Nothing could be more heart-rending than to see the agony of this brave girl, struggling in the embrace of death and against a terrible mortal pang. Gov. Pickens, whose courage is known, was almost without consciousness, and Mrs. Pickens looked upon her child with the dry and haggard eye of one whose reason totters.

Lieut. de Rochelle was the first to speak. "Anna," he cried, "I will die soon, too, but I would have you die my wife. There is yet time to unite us."

The young girl did not reply; she was too weak.—A slight flush rose for an instant to her pale cheek; it could be seen that joy and pain were struggling in her spirit for the mastery. Lying upon a sofa, her bridal dress all stained with blood, her hair dishevelled, she had never been more beautiful. Helpless as she was, Lieut de Rochelle took her hand and requested the Rev. Mr. Dickinson to proceed with the ceremony. When it was time for the dying girl to say yes, her lips parted several times, but she could not articulate. At last the word was spoken, and a slight foam rested upon her lips. The dying agony was near. The minister sobbed as he proceeded with the ceremony. An hour afterward all was over and the bridal chamber was the chamber of death. Lieut de Rochelle has sworn to perish in battle against the Yankees, and we are sure that he will keep his oath. He has now a double motive to hate them and his own existence.—Charleston Mercury.

GIVING THEM THEIR LEVEL.—The Charlottesville (Va.) Chronicle says:

The Richmond Enquirer affirms that upon the recent approach of the Yankees against Petersburg, Gen. Bragg issued an order for the evacuation of the city! We hear a corroboration of this from other quarters. It is also stated that Gen. Wise or Gen. Beauregard, or both, flatly refused to obey the order.

It is full time that this officer had found his true level. Is the country to be sacrificed to save private feelings? What does Lee, or Johnston or Beauregard want with the orders of Gen. Bragg?

There is a sphere in which Gen. Bragg would be useful. There is an artillery regiment in which General Pemberton is now a lieutenant-colonel; in this regiment an arrangement might be effected by which the positions in it of Colonel and Major might be filled by Generals Bragg and Holmes.

[The Sentinel, we see, since writing the above, contradicts the statement of the Enquirer. But we are still for assignment to the artillery regiment.]

The world is full of wants. The newspapers overflow with wants, and so does the heart of everything human or otherwise. The poor want to get rich, and the rich want to get richer; young ladies want husbands, or new bonnets, or both; old ladies want more religion, a new set of teeth, or a chance to gossip; young men want to secure an artistic part in the middle of their hair; widows want number two, three or four, as the case may be; the bulls want gold to go up, the bears want it to go down; Congress wants common sense; Old Abe wants a re-election; Massachusetts wants the war to go on and the Northwest to do the fighting; preachers want piety. In short, everybody everywhere wants something.

But of all who want things, the North wants something pre-eminently. The North wants a victory. The North wants somebody to march somewhere and whip something—no matter who, where, or what.—Gold is climbing slowly up among the eighties; public confidence is down somewhere among the unfathomable degrees below zero—therefore the North wants a victory. Who will supply this want?

Chicago Times.

A CONJUGAL MUDDLE.—Night before last a lady residing in South Nashville, named Fly, and whose husband has been absent in the rebel ranks nearly 3 years, got married to a private soldier in the Federal army. Yesterday her husband was captured, or deserted, and early in the day he sent an epistle of sweet things to his wife, one of which was that he should take the oath of allegiance and fly into her arms. But the woman protested against any and all such proceedings, contending that she was no longer a Fly.—She informed the new partaker of he joys what had transpired, who, thinking there would be a muss, in which an infuriated husband might get the best of it, stated his intentions as honorable, and as proof thereof was willing to cry quits and forfeit the realization of all his ecstatic anticipations. But the wife gave a groan, and swore fidelity to her new-found love; and swore further that the original Jacob should never again enter her abode. This case promises a rich denouement, and will be a godsend to gossips.—Nashville Dispatch, 28d ult.

FRENCH BROAD LANDS FOR SALE.

GLEN CANNON FARM, TRANSYLVANIA COUNTY, N. C.

THIS FARM LIES ON the FRENCH BROAD River, within five miles of Brevard, the county town, and is extensively known as the best tract of land, and the most productive property in the county, and probably in Western North Carolina. In salubrity of climate, beauty of scenery, location and fertility of soil, it is unsurpassed by any property in the State. It consists of 1,370 acres of land, 400 of which are first quality French Broad bottom, all of which, with the exception of 40 or 50 acres, are cleared and under a high state of cultivation, thoroughly drained and excellent fences, most of which are new lath feucing on locust posts. 2,875 bushels of corn were gathered from 28 acres of this land with ordinary cultivation and without any fertilizer ever having been applied to it. Ninety acres are laid down in the most approved mode, to the grasses and afford heavy crops of hay and excellent pastures. The balance of the tract, say 970 acres, is the heaviest and best timbered mountain land.

The whole tract is under one boundary and may be subdivided advantageously, there being four very eligible and beautiful building sites, with bottom land attached.

On the premises is a good cottage residence, of five rooms, each with a fire place, kitchen, servant houses, ice house, storeroom, diary, smokehouse, framed corn crib, capacity, 3,500 bushels ear corn, one double and five single negro houses, two tenant settlements, an excellent saw and grist mill, all built within thirteen years by the proprietor. The saw mill is driven by an overshot wheel of 28 feet in diameter, and is located at one of the most beautiful water falls of about 100 feet in height and equal to 150 horse power, and only fifteen minutes walk from the residence.

This property for this year is under rent to Gen. Smith, of East Tennessee, who will give any information desired during the absence of the proprietor.

The price for these lands is ($160,000) one hundred and sixty thousand dollars. Payment may be made in Confederate stock at the market value at Columbia, S. C., at time of sale.

With the above property can be purchased twelve remarkably prime and orderly negroes, being a picked gang accustomed to the culture of the farm in the most careful and cleanly style. Among them are four men, three women and five children. The men are excellent plowmen, mowers, cradlers, &c., one is a good carpenter. Of the women, one is an excellent cook and spinner. The children are from 4 to 6 years of age. Also the farm tools, consisting in part of plows, harrows, horse rake, field roller, corn planters, sorgho mill, molasses boilers, corn sheller, straw cutters, timber carts, &c., &c. Also the stock of highly improved cattle.

DAILY PROGRESS.

Raleigh, N. C.

SUNDAY, MORNING, 1864.

"The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and [illegible] shall not be violated, and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the [illegible] and the person or [illegible] to be seized."—Bill of Rights of the United States.

"No freeman ought to be taken, imprisoned or in any manner deprived of his life, liberty or property but by the law of the land."—North Carolina Bill of Rights.

The Lull.

There seems to be a lull in military operations both in Georgia and Virginia, but it is the lull, no doubt, which precedes a most terrific storm. Grant and Sherman, having proceeded so far into the bowels of the Confederacy as they have, cannot retreat without decisive battles, and hence we may expect desperate and bloody encounters within the next few days. We have confidence, however, in our commanders and their brave legions, and let the struggle come when it may we are not only hopeful but sanguine as to the result. The Yankees are stationary both in Virginia and Georgia, and when they move we look for glorious victories to our arms.

Some of Gov. Vance's organs and supporters have stated that he urged the boys in Northern Virginia "to fight till hell freezed over and then fight on the ice," to "fill hell so full of Yankees that their boots would hang out at the windows," and promised each of them a bottle of whisky and white sugar to sweeten it with when they should succeed in taking the starch out of Grant; but we have for some time had the positive evidence that he did use the language attributed to him. We have seen several letters from soldiers writing from different regiments, all stating in substance the same thing, and on yesterday a soldier from the 43d, who heard one or more of the speeches, voluntarily made the statement in our office, in the presence of a number of gentlemen, that he heard him use these expressions, and that if denied he would face Gov. Vance in it and prove it by dozens of the men in his regiment.

These charges now being fully established we commend the refined and chaste expressions used by his Excellency to the secession preachers and piney Destructives throughout the State, and would suggest to the former that, in order to show that he is a decent war man and a good Destructive, a repetition of these impressive injunctions to the soldiers, from their various pulpits might be of service. We think peddling lemonade under a canvas much less odious than the utterance of such language, in public speeches, to those brave veterans who are perilling their lives for their country.

A further denial of the use of such language before the soldiers, by Gov. Vance's organs, will avail nothing, for hundreds of those who heard it have written home to their friends, scattered throughout the State, all asserting the same thing, and the proof is incontrovertible.

Gov Vance is attempting to make it appear in all his speeches that he is a better peace man than Mr. Holden. Let the people not be deceived; Gov. Vance denies, by his acts, that the States or their authorities can do anything for peace, and insists on fighting until it shall please Richmond and Washington to negotiate. The true Conservatives agree that the Senate and the Cabinet constitute the treaty-making power, but they insist at the same time that the sovereign States are the creators of Senates and Cabinets; that they make and unmake them, and have a right to control their action. Gov. Vance is in favor of fighting it out now, and opposed to negotiations for peace, so let the people not be deceived. Mr. Holden stands upon the Stephens and Brown platform and advocates the shortest road to an honorable peace, and he is the man around whom the Conservatives of North Carolina will rally.

We tell the people that if this war is not stopped by negotiation that before another year shall pass the conscription will embrace all between 16 and 55, without exemptions, if we except a few original secessionists, who the authorities will manage to keep out should the war last until doomsday. If the people of North Carolina are for perpetual conscriptions, impressments and seizures to keep up a perpetual, devastating and exhausting war let them vote for Gov. Vance, for he is "for fighting it out now;" but if they believe from the bitter experience of the last three years that the sword can never end it and are in favor of steps being taken by the States to urge negotiations by the general government for an honorable and speedy peace, they must vote for Mr. Holden. There is no necessity for him to go up and down the State proclaiming himself an advocate for peace, as Gov. Vance is doing, for all know that his office was mobbed last September on account of his efforts to bring this war to an honorable termination.

We regret to learn that Capt. J. C. Gorman, of the 2nd regiment, from this city, was wounded and taken prisoner recently. Capt. Gorman, is a gallant officer and we are glad to learn that his wound is slight, and hope he will soon be exchanged.

We regret to learn also that Gus Lougee, the fat son of W. J. Lougee, of this city, was taken prisoner and is in the hands of the enemy.

The Standard [illegible] attempts [illegible] the Progress was [illegible] "man Friday." Mr. Holden has no man Friday, and no living supporter. We could have been Gov. Vance's man Friday, having been tendered the situation by him, personally, and also by those near him, by his authority, but we declined, having long since determined never to be the hired supporter of any man for office. We might have had the situation that the Editor of the Conservative has got, and in fact refused it before he took it; and yet he has the face to talk about Holden's "man Friday." The fact is the Governor has monopolized all the "Fridays"—he has them to write for him, to talk for him, to travel with him, and, if what we hear be true, he has them to deal out whisky for him in a backroom of a store, on Fayetteville street, which commodity the recipient is told as he receives it, is "Vance whisky." We can inform our neighbor that we are not the piper, tapster, or "Friday" of Gov. Vance or "any other man."

THE PRESIDENT AND THE HABEAS CORPUS ACT.

In reply to a resolution of Congress, enquiring of the President, if the public safety requires the continuance of the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, the President affirms that "the effects of the law have been most salutary; and to that law, in a considerable degree, are we indebted for the increased efficiency of the military preparations, which have enabled our armies to beat back the invader's forces, which still threaten us."

In what way, the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, has increased "the efficiency of our military preparations, which have enabled our armies to beat back our invaders," the President does not explain.—When he urged upon Congress the suspension of the [illegible] corpus act, it was followed in vindication of his recommendation, that he might have reasons for it, which the public at large could not and might not know. It was darkly hinted, that some secret military might exist, which the prompt detention which the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus would establish, could alone be competent to disclose and suppress. But since the law has been passed, suspending the writ of habeas corpus, who has heard of any treason it has suppressed? Indeed, who has heard of any good this wanton stretch upon the liberty of the citizen has done anywhere? Fortunately for the truth, the President comes from behind the shields of constituted authorities, and makes direct charges, which, he alleges, it has produced. We have now something tangible. He gives "military preparations" as the result of the suspension of the writ. "Military preparations" are not impalpable things. They are open acts in open day. What military preparations have been made efficient by the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus? We know great two with which the habeas corpus act has anything to do—the enforcement of the conscription law—and the enforcement of the law abolishing substitutes. It was this latter law which occasioned the demonstrations by Mr. Brown, Senator from Mississippi, of the State Judges, and the proposition to evade the law, with a suspension of the writ of habeas corpus to enforce it. But, it so happens, that with respect to both of these two military preparations for the increased efficiency of our armies, the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus act has had simply nothing to do. On the contrary, the questions under these laws, were made by the exercise not the suspension, of this very writ, before the Courts of the States of the Confederate States. In Georgia, a Judge below, did determine, about two years ago, that the conscription law was unconstitutional, but on appeal to the Courts above, the law was affirmed to be constitutional. So in Virginia, Alabama, and other States, the judicial tribunals of the States, affirmed the Constitutionality of both of these laws; and these, by their decrees, proved most palpably, that it was totally unnecessary to suspend the writ of habeas corpus, to enforce either of these military preparations, to enable our armies to beat back our invaders. The truth is, there never has been any good cause for suspending the writ of habeas corpus. The ordinary operation of the laws, with a proper enforcement of military authority within its legitimate sphere, has been ample for our protection; and the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, has put a stain upon our cause, which the most energetic military preparations or military successes can never wipe out.

THE WAR IN GEORGIA.

We have Atlanta papers of the 3d. From the Confederacy we get the following relative to the movements of Sherman:

THE FRONT.

The only news brought from the front last evening was that the field of operations was being gradually transferred to our right towards Alatoona. There was no fighting yesterday, but occasional skirmishes occurred during the day.

A report was in circulation that Stahlman's Division of cavalry had taken Rome, and another that the enemy had possession of Allatoon, both of which lack confirmation.

SHERMAN'S NEW FLANK MOVEMENT.

There is an enemy in Sherman's rear. The enemy is "short rations."

After all his stupendous manœuvres by flank, the great flanker has worked himself into a position from which he is now making desperate attempts to extricate himself, by reaching the Alatoona Hills and the Bridge of Etowah, as a base for future operations.

In his present awkward position, his large army must be supplied by wagon trains from beyond the Etowah. A hundred thousand mouths consume immense quantities of rations, and the barren country he now holds supplies hardly a tithe of it. The railroad may be supplied from its well-stocked depots in the rear as far as Kingston, but from that point they have to be hauled in wagons to the field, over rugged roads, across a river, and through the enemy's country. The least hitch in the gear of this train machinery involves his army in imminent peril.

The other day sixty prisoners were brought in by our cavalry, and out of the haversacks of the whole party scarcely a pound of meat was discovered. They all complained of the short rations that were issued to them.

This state of affairs necessitates a movement on the part of Sherman, to relieve the immediate wants of his troops in the way of subsistence. He is already attempting such a move, if the latest accounts from the field are correct. He is massing his forces on our right in the direction of the State road.

At such a moment the presence of Forrest at any point along the enemy's line of railroad communication would involve the utter overthrow of the great Yankee raid in North Georgia. But we are of opinion that Forrest's presence is demanded in the region of North Mississippi. The network of railroads over which supplies are transported from that section, are to be constantly watched. Therefore, some one else than Forrest will have to perform the task of starving the Georgia raiders into defeat.

On last Tuesday morning about 2½ o'clock, the Steamship Georgiana McCaa on her first trip from Nassau to this port got ashore below Fort Caswell, while attempting to come by the western channel.—The Yankees boarded her, taking some thirty prisoners, including all the officers. Some 18 of the crew had escaped in a boat, which was stove on reaching shore and was therefore unable to return and bring others off.

Before the Yankees left they fired the steamer. It would seem that when they first boarded her, Mr. Thos. K. Dwyer, the pilot, and the cook whose name we do not know, concealed themselves and thus escaped capture.

After the Yankees had fired the steamer and left her two men were observed on board. They were hailed by some on shore, and told to put out the fire, which they did.

A boat having been procured from Fort Caswell, the steamer was boarded by a party, probably of the Coast Guards, commanded by Capt. Galloway. Mr. Dyer, the pilot, was found lying insensible, with three gashes in his head. He died in 20 minutes after being found. The cook's statement, as we learn, is that the Yankees beat them both and robbed them. What appears strange in this is that these two men, Mr. Dwyer and the cook, were observed on the boat after the Yankees had left, and it is known that they put out the fire. Why should the Yankees have left either of them, had their hiding place been discovered? Or if the Yankees had inflicted the fatal wounds which caused Mr. Dyer's death, how could he, after their infliction, have gone about the steamer and assisted in putting out the fire, as he was observed to do?

Mr. Dyer is known to have had a gold watch and some money on his person. Both money and watch were gone, and his pockets were turned inside out.—The cook has been arrested, but we do not know whether anything further has been discovered.

Mr. Dyer had been a pilot here for a number of years, and had made several trips since the commencement of the blockade.—Wil. Journal 4th inst.

There are over 15,000 Yankee prisoners at Andersonville, Ga. The editor of the Albany Patriot says that upwards of 3,000 have died since their removal to Andersonville, the mortality daily averaging thirty five, with every prospect of a large increase. On the night of the 14th ult. thirty-two died.

THE SMALL POX IN RALEIGH.—The Raleigh Confederate of the 2d instant, reports that the family of Mr. W. W Holden are afflicted by a case of small pox, which has made its appearance on a member of the family; and that cases have broken out in one or two other families in Raleigh.—Charlotte Times.

We are glad to be able to state that the case of small pox in Mr. Holden's family is nearly well, and that, all the other members of the family having been vaccinated, there is no danger of its spreading. And the Times is right in saying there are other cases in this city; in fact there has been no time for eighteen months that we have not had small pox in Raleigh, and we believe the same may be said of Charlotte and other communities in the State. War always brings plague, pestilence and famine; in the small pox and other troubles that have afflicted us we have the plague and pestilence, while the famine is at the very threshold of thousands of families.—Verily the glories of secession are upon us and the whole population are enjoying its sweets, if we except shade officers and other favorites of the authorities. May a merciful God speedily deliver us from the common enemy who oppress us without and all the afflictions that beset us within.

We learn that two or three hundred wounded and sick soldiers were received at the hospitals in this city yesterday. This addition to the number to be cared for will create the necessity for additional supplies, and we appeal to those of our friends in the country who may have a surplus to spare to bring it in. These men have been disabled in the service of their country and deserve all that we can do for them.

If the suspending of the writ has done any harm to anybody, or if there has been any one arrested since its suspension, we have not heard of it.—Tarboro Southerner.

We suppose the Southerner don't try to inform itself. Some 20 or 30 persons, arrested since the suspension of the writ, were confined at Kinston for nearly three months, and only released a week or two ago, too late to make a crop.—None of them were found guilty of treason and none of them punished. One of the men thus imprisoned, we are assured by a Confederate officer from Kinston, has been supporting, ever since the war commenced, the families of two or three soldiers, in addition to his own, by his own labor. Another citizen, arrested since the writ was suspended, was released here a few days ago, being detained since early in March, without a single charge being proved against him. He has a plantation in the upper part of Craven county with some negroes on it, but it is too late to make a crop. These are facts—will the Southerner give them publicity?
